

PROPERTY TAX APPEAL BOARD'S DECISION

APPELLANT: Brian Neuffer
DOCKET NO.: 04-23575.001-R-1
PARCEL NO.: 04-35-115-007-0000

The parties of record before the Property Tax Appeal Board are Brian Neuffer, the appellant, by attorney Rusty A. Payton of the Law Offices of Rusty A. Payton, P.C., Chicago, Illinois; and the Cook County Board of Review.

The subject property is a four-year old, two-story frame dwelling containing 2,718 square feet of living area with a full, unfinished basement, central air conditioning, a fireplace, and a two-car garage.

The appellant submitted evidence before the Property Tax Appeal Board claiming unequal treatment in the assessment process as the basis of the appeal. In support of the equity argument, the appellant submitted a grid analysis detailing four suggested comparable properties. On the appellant's map, three comparables are located approximately one-quarter mile to one-half mile from the subject, and the other comparable is located approximately one mile from the subject. The comparables are two-story frame dwellings that are 36 to 52 years old. Three comparables have partial basements, and one has a full basement. Three comparables have central air conditioning, and each has a fireplace. Photographs supplied by the appellant indicate that at least two comparables have garages. The dwellings have living areas that contain 3,038 to 3,299 square feet, and their improvement assessments range from $17.12 to $18.37 per square foot. The subject property has an improvement assessment of $20.60 per square foot. Based on this evidence, the appellant requested a reduction in the subject's improvement assessment.

The board of review submitted its "Board of Review Notes on Appeal" wherein the subject's assessment was disclosed. In support of the subject's assessment, the board of review offered property characteristic sheets and a spreadsheet detailing four suggested comparable properties. The comparables are located in the same general area as the subject. The comparables are two-story frame dwellings that are 15 or 63 years old. Three comparables have full, finished basements, and one has a full, unfinished basement. Each comparable has central air conditioning, one or two fireplaces, and a garage, either one-car or two-car. The dwellings have living areas that contain 1,991 to 2,822 square feet, and improvement assessments that range from $20.51 to $21.79 per square foot. Based on this evidence, the board of review requested confirmation of the subject's assessment.

After reviewing the record and considering the evidence, the Property Tax Appeal Board finds that it has jurisdiction over the parties and the subject matter of this appeal. The Property Tax Appeal Board further finds that a reduction in the subject's assessment is not warranted. The appellant's argument was unequal treatment in the assessment process. The Illinois Supreme Court has held that taxpayers who object to an assessment on the basis of lack of uniformity bear the burden of proving the disparity of assessment valuations by clear and convincing evidence. Kankakee County Board of Review v. Property Tax Appeal Board, 131 Ill.2d 1 (1989). The evidence must demonstrate a consistent pattern of assessment inequities within the assessment jurisdiction. After an analysis of the assessment data, the Board finds the appellant has not overcome this burden.

Both parties presented assessment data on a total of eight equity comparables. The appellant's comparables differed significantly in age and size from the subject, and comparable four also differed in location. The board of review's comparables differed in age from the subject, and comparables three and four also differed in size. As a result, none of the comparables was truly similar to the subject property in age, location, and physical characteristics to provide clear and convincing evidence that the property was inequitably assessed. However, the Board notes that all comparables had improvement assessments ranging from $17.12 to $21.21 per square foot. The subject's $20.60 per square foot improvement assessment is within that range and appears to be supported after considering differences in physical and location attributes.

As a result of this analysis, the Property Tax Appeal Board finds the appellant has not adequately demonstrated that the subject dwelling was inequitably assessed by clear and convincing evidence, and a reduction is not warranted.

This is a final administrative decision of the Property Tax Appeal Board are subject to review in the Circuit Court or Appellate Court under the provisions of the Administrative Review Law (735 ILCS 5/3-101 et seq.) and section 16-195 of the Property Tax Code.
